

morph orders

Note that there is a "lag" between difference orders. Each point on each subsequent order corresponds to the differences between the "current" x-axis point in the previous order and the "current-1".